Explanation

first i identified the grandparents like the semantics and navigation bar so i can disseminate the parts inside the grand parents. after i recognize the grand parents, this is where the next part where in i need to identify the content within the grand parent. that's why the blue legend is for the parent either it's a div inside a div the green legend is for the child where in it have a nested child or considered to be a grand child.

this is the practice i use in order to breaking down the layout of the webpages of Y8
